Beamer

Beamer Consulting

Beamer helps founders and solo entrepreneurs make sound technical decisions and build software that supports their business rather than complicating it. Each tier reflects a different level of support, from rapid clarity to hands on development and ongoing partnership.

Advisory Tier

Focused technical sessions that clarify direction before committing resources. Clients can expect direct answers, clear architectural guidance, risk reduction, and a written summary after each session. These sessions help you avoid unnecessary development and focus only on what matters.

Implementation Tier

One week development sprints that deliver working software without overhead. Clients receive a scoped prototype, MVP, module, or internal tool, built cleanly and handed over with deployment, documentation, and a clear delivery report. The goal is practical progress you can use immediately.

Partnership Tier

Ongoing collaboration for founders with active products. This tier provides regular advisory and development work, structured weekly progress notes, monthly summaries, and a stable technical partner who understands your product. It ensures continuous progress without needing to hire a team.

Work is delivered remotely at the moment.
